

THE MONTCLAIR BIRD CLUB

QUIZ 27

July 8, 2020

Two very common New Jersey sparrows have names that connect each of them to a certain state in the southeastern United States—for one sparrow it is the English name, for the other its scientific name. What are the two sparrows?

Links to ponder:

Theft from zoos. Thoughtful advice about how not to pilfer armadillos.

The Sound Approach. One of the most unusual and one of the most charming series of bird books produced in recent years, brought to you free by Lush Cosmetics.

THE ANSWER IS ON THE NEXT PAGE

The state is Georgia; the birds are the Savannah sparrow and the swamp sparrow (Melospiza georgiana).

Savannah Sparrow

Swamp Sparrow (Melospiza georgiana)

MBC Ornithological Quiz Master: Rick Wright
MBC Assistant & Photographer: Sandy Sorkin